The concept of face masks that continues to play a central role in public conversation and public life has shifted our notion of masks away from the theatre mask and social persona and closer to public health. As Halloween, a time of masking, approaches, this family friendly café philo on masks will bring the masks we wear together in an hour-long discussion.

In this on-line café philo pilot, we're bringing together interdisciplinary perspectives for discussions about topics of our time. The café will be moderated by feminist philosopher and educator Katy Fulfer. Joining us for this discussion are three surprise panelists and one Special Guest from <https://specialguest.best>.

As a viewer, you will receive an email with a link prior to the Zoom session. Viewers do not need a Zoom account to participate in the café philo. Viewers will be able to watch the discussion and ask questions during the Q&A.

This is a FREE virtual event and is FAMILY FRIENDLY.

This event is part of a pilot project made possible by operating grants from the City of Kitchener and the City of Waterloo, and by a grant from the Government of Canada through the Canada Summer Jobs program.
