A workshop for projects of all kinds - film, video, theatre, games, installations, interactive art: how to think visually about a story or project.

A workshop for projects of all kinds - film, video, theatre, games, installations, interactive art: how to think visually about a story or project. You will learn: What are storyboards, why you should use them, how to use them, and some PDQ (pretty darn quick) methods of making your own, and you will see some examples of visual storytelling.

This program is delivered through Zoom. You only need to register once per viewing device.

INSTRUCTOR:

Isabella Stefanescu is a visual and media artist based in Waterloo Region. She has created storyboards for use in interactive art installations, films and animations, and is an admirer of storyboarding as an artform in itself.

This workshop is a collaboration between Inter Arts Matrix, Cambridge Art Galleries, and Idea Exchange, funded by operating grants from the City of Kitchener, City of Waterloo, and the City of Cambridge.
